

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides compositions and a method to remove a plurality of radioactive isotopes and/or heavy metals simultaneously from water or wastewater. The compositions comprise lattice clays; flocculants; a neutron absorbent; catalysts; and a setter. The selected compositions is entered into a vessel and agitated with the water to produce a sludge containing the contaminants.